Memories Of The Holocaust: Nina's Story, Through Her Eyes

Synopsis

Through Her Eyes is a historical semi-autobiography detailing one Holocaust survivors memories of a distant time when free people, religion, and political choice were replaced with turmoil, strife and starvation as Hitlerâ™s Germany invaded and eventually reigned in Poland. These events have affected the lives of millions and altered the course of history forever. Ninaâ™s personal accounts and tales of unwanted hardships, anger, sorrow, and frustration will be forever overshadowed by her immense courage, strength, and unwavering determination. The kind of determination one needs to be inspired and overcome near impossible odds. Each obstacle she faced and conquered gave her the confidence, will, and internal fortitude to succeed in life rather than fail in death. This memoir is a true testament to the human spirit and shows no matter how difficult and long a never ending road may seem, when a person is forced against ones will to bare seemingly unfeasible burdens, that person can reach down deep into their soul, rise to the occasion, and find the self-belief and heart to carry on.Update: 09/2011 - Now also available: Revealing the Untold Truth: The Second Generation. A follow-up to Memories of the Holocaust: Ninaâ™s Story, Through Her Eyes. Available for Kindle and print through .

This is a true story. A story of perseverance, hope, courage and heart. This book follows Nina Eckhaus from her childhood in Poland to the Nazi take over to the separation from her family and concentration camps, during the invasion of Poland. This is a MUST read! I really hope to see a movie or mini series, on this book. Oh and by the way, Nina (whom I have met) according to her family has never told anyone her story until now with the help of her son "Effy". Once you pick this book up you will not be able to put it down.

"Arouse! Arouse! (Get out! Get out!) So begins this terrifying story of a young girl's survival against all odds in the Nazi persecution of Jews in World War II. The surreal memory of Nazis invading her peaceful Polish community by bicycle, shocks the reader to immediate attention. Written by Effy Eckhaus, this is the true memoir of his mother, Nina Sternfeld, a blonde-haired Jewish girl who loses everything...her home...her family...to the ravages of the German "Final Solution". Although a frightening story, this is also a tale of survival...of a brave young woman who pits her wits and her courage against the most powerful military force of her time, and lives to live again. Nina Sternfeld not only survives, she marries and creates a new family, whose very existence is continuing proof of her victory over the dark forces of evil. This is a must read for any student of the Holocaust, and should be on every film maker's list as their next great movie project.

Great condition book, seems brand new. I can't wait to read the book
